RECESS MANAGEMENT PACKS

The most obvious characteristic of recess is that it constitutes a break from the day's routine. In experimental studies, Pellegrini and Davis (1993) and Pellegrini, Huberty, and Jones (1995) found that elementary school children became progressively inattentive when recess was delayed, resulting in more active play when recess occurred. Another experimental study (Jarrett et al., 1998) found that fourth-graders were more on-task and less fidgety in the classroom on days when they had had recess, with hyperactive children among those who benefited the most. Clearly, breaks are helpful, both for attention and for classroom management, whether or not the breaks are in the form of recess.

Sportime Recess Packs offer classroom teachers the equipment they need to keep recess active and fun. They're color coded to help schools keep their equipment organized.
